

Find out about City Deal investments in your communities

The Glasgow City Region City Deal is investing £78m in the Clyde Waterfront and Renfrew Riverside Project to build a new bridge, with connecting roads, across the Clyde. This will bring tremendous economic benefits and job opportunities to communities on both sides of the river.

This will be the Clyde's only opening road bridge, creating an important new connection between communities and businesses on both sides of the river.

Local people will have new travel options to employment, education, health and leisure opportunities throughout the wider City Region.

The project will increase the potential for businesses to grow by improving connections with customers and suppliers. It will also enhance access to land which is currently underused or derelict, unlocking the potential for regeneration and new development.

The completed project and regeneration will create an attractive, vibrant and sustainable enhancement to surrounding communities.
